Jefferson and Hamilton divided the American people into two great parties. They formed the issues that will remain vital as long as the constitution lasts, and big as is this country, there is no room in it for another party.

If Dr. Clardy wants to be Governor let him go into the Democratic convention, not as a farmer, but as a Democrat, and secure the nomination. If he can, and he may be assured that such a nomination is equivalent to an election.—Louisville Times.

The Times can rest assured that Dr. Clardy will never consent to lead a third party ticket. He is a long-time Democrat and his principles are so firmly rooted that those who know him best would never suppose for a moment that his political convictions could ever undergo a change. Upon all party questions he is in thorough accord with the Democracy and he believes like the farmers of Tennessee that their hope of relief lies in the Democratic party. It is not known that Dr. Clardy would consent to enter the gubernatorial race, but if he should become a candidate it would most assuredly be within the lines of his party. He ran for Delegate recently not as a Granger or a Wheeler, but as a representative of the agriculturists generally. It was thoroughly understood that he was a Democrat and that he would vote the straight Democratic ticket as he had been doing for forty years. He was not placed on the party ticket because the body of farmers who arbitrated the claims of the two farmer candidates—both Democrats—was made up from both parties, who asked that the race be made a non-partisan one; and because the Democrats decided to make no nomination for this office, but to let the fight come squarely between a farmer candidate and the Republican nominee.

The Times is in error in saying that Dr. Clardy has been suggested as a "Farmer's" candidate for Governor. He has been mentioned as a Democratic candidate to be presented by the farmers of the party and there will be no better Democrat in the race than he.

Here is some mighty interesting reading from the leading Republican paper of the Mississippi Valley, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

Nearly every prominent Republican paper in the states west of Ohio is opposing that part of the McKinley bill proposing to increase duties. The views thus expressed are not confined to the editors formulating them. They represent the sentiment of an overwhelming majority of the Republican party of the Mississippi Valley. There are clauses in the McKinley bill which ought to be discussed long enough to be reconstructed in the interest of reform and common sense. But this sort of discussion can be done better by five minutes than by two hour speeches.

This same paper has come out squarely against the Force Bill and advises the Republican party to drop it not merely for the present, but for all time.

The Alliance movement cannot be made a political scheme in this country, even should the politicians who have worked themselves into the Union decide to nominate a candidate of their own for Congress. The Democrats of Christian county are not built that way. They went into the wheels and granges with the understanding that they were non-political organizations to promote the business interests of farmers, as their constitutions set forth. If those orders are to be used to start a third party movement, their existence will be short and transitory. There is no room in this country for third parties. The Republican party is the party of the people, whose rights it is pledged to protect. Every voter can take his choice from these two.

The Constitutional Convention will assemble two weeks from next Monday and as the time draws near interest begins to center on the probable President of that body. A week ago the field was full of short horses but they have one by one dropped to the rear until the race has narrowed down to J. Proctor Knott and Bennett H. Young, with everything pointing to the selection of the former. Gov. Knott, it is conceded, will be the ablest man in that body, and he of all men should be made its President.

There is not likely to be any considerable opposition to Mr. Ellis in his county. There are whole districts in the county where his opponent is not known to have a single supporter.

The Newly created office of Assistant Attorney General is to be filled by Abraham X. Parker. Mr. Parker is doubtless a man who can make his mark, unless the X in his name is an initial.

There is a prospect of a treaty of peace between Guatemala and San Salvador, the warring Central American republics.

With fifteen counties out, it is now estimated that Longmoores majority will exceed 52,000.

QUICK DEATH.

Nineteen People Killed in a Railroad Accident.

Several Kentuckians Among Them.

Boston Aug. 20.—An accident on the Old Colony road yesterday afternoon was one of the most disastrous and distressing on record.

The train wrecked was the Wood-shill Express. It consisted of locomotive 122, manned by Engineer Babcock and Fireman John Ravan, a baggage car, a smoker, the Pullman car Puritan and four ordinary coaches, heavily loaded. The train had passed Quincy station at 12:57 p. m., running about ten miles an hour, and just beyond President's bridge, about an eighth of a mile toward Boston, the engine left the track and plunged into an embankment twelve feet high and was buried upon one side.

The foremost passenger coach, No. 236, left the rails, and its foremost track swerved to the left and plunged diagonally through the car floor. The car then fell upon its left side upon the engine. The lower forward portion was torn to pieces, and of the passengers in the car, some fifty in number, many were thrown into the rear car, from which eleven dead bodies were afterwards taken out. The escaping steam and smoke from the engine instantly filled the car, so that those within could see nothing, either within or without.

The number of patients at the hospital has been reduced to ten, nearly all of whom are considered in a precarious state. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bailey are considered to be in a critical condition this morning, and their recovery is extremely doubtful. Fifteen others injured are in private houses, and a number whose injuries are slight have been lost track of. The latest report gives the following as a complete list of the dead, all identified:

Mrs. Mary F. Parker, Wellesley, Mass.

Master Parker, her son.

Lyman Merrill, Rumney, N. H.

Mrs. L. Merrill, Mrs. Mattie Frances, Chelsea.

Miss Mary E. Tilton, Lexington, Mass.

Mrs. Mary Abbott, Louisville, Ky.

Miss Eva Ballard, Asheville, N. C.

Mrs. Frank O. Allen, Philadelphia.

Miss Bessie Allen, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Oscar Fenley, Louisville.

Mrs. Mary Fenley, Louisville.

Alice Fenley, (infant).

Catherine Fenley, Louisville.

Mrs. E. P. Johnson.

A. C. Johnson, her son.

James Ryan, South Boston, fireman.

Mrs. Nancy Wells, Hartford, Conn.

C. M. Copp, Cleveland, O.

Elizabeth Fenley, aged six, and her colored nurse, Lucy, are both at the house of Mrs. Carr, on Hancock street.

The little girl is badly scalded and the doctor says her condition is such that he does not think she can live.

The nurse is very low, though her condition is not serious.

Miss Eva Ballard's end came at 7 o'clock, after a night of intense suffering. She had been passing the summer at College City and was a leader in social events. She has a brother, F. J. Ballard, at St. Augustine, Fla.

THE CRAFT.

The Covington Commonwealth with an unpardonable ignorance of the geography of this end of "God's country," locates Hopkinsville in Hopkins county. Read up a little, brother, on your county seats. Hopkinsville is not in Hopkins county. Neither is Madisonville in Madison county, Scottsville in Scott county, Alleensville in Allen county, Hartford in Hart county, nor Owensboro in Owen county.

Uncle Ben Harrison announces that he will shortly change his paper, the Henderson Weekly News, into an afternoon daily. He wants to take in a partner to help put the project on foot.

The Havesville Ballot, a Republican campaign sheet in Hancock, went up Salt River with the ticket it supported.

The Mail, a new weekly paper to be edited by L. J. Early, is expected to appear in Owensboro next week.

During the epidemic of flux in this county last summer, I had hard work to keep a supply of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand. People often came ten or twelve miles in the night to get a bottle of the Remedy. I have been selling patent medicine for the last ten years and find that it has given better satisfaction in cases of diarrhoea and flux, than any other medicine I have ever handled.—J. H. BISHAN, Druggist, Golconda, Pope Co., Ill. Over five hundred bottles of this Remedy were sold in that county during the epidemic. It was a perfect success and was the only remedy that did cure the worst cases. Dozens of persons there will certify that it saved their lives. In four other epidemics of bowel complaint this Remedy has been equally successful. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Buckner Leavell.

A case of Asiatic cholera is reported in London, though the government authorities deny that it is genuine cholera.

Mr. John Carpenter, of Goodland, Ind., says: "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for diarrhoea and cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels with the best results. In the worst cases I never had to give more than the third dose to effect a cure. In most cases one dose will do. Besides it's other good qualities it is pleasant to take." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Buckner Leavell.

A careful estimate places the number of buildings demolished and partially destroyed at nearly 400, and some estimate that it will exceed this figure. The loss will probably reach nearly if not quite $1,000,000, although in the present chaos no possible means of making a closer estimate exists.

"I ain't gwine to vote no more for no party what can't do nothin'." an old darkey was heard to remark the day after the election. Some railroad companies might take a hint from this remark. A great many people think that way.

NICETY IN DRESS.

Elegance, not showiness, is commendable in a lady's toilet.

Nicety in dress may not always be accompanied by goodness in the wearer, yet it is apt to be so construed. The betrothed wife of an estimable young man was recently visiting his mother. The members of both families were delighted. The chap's mother was dazzled by the beauty, the breeding and elegance of her prospective daughter-in-law. Strange to say, however, on the day after the young girl had begun her visit the mother called her son to her and spoke gravely to him about his prospective bride. "Harry," said she, "Alice invited me into her room to-day, and, oh, my boy, she doesn't dress like a lady at all. I'm afraid, Harry, I really am."

Harry smothered his indignation and begged his mother to explain herself.

"Well, you see," said the latter, "instead of nice white linen, all her underwear is black silk. Every item is of that material, and when I spoke of it she showed me trunks full of clothes in every tint of silk imaginable, and no linen at all. This was bad enough. Harry, but her garters had jeweled clasps on them. Oh, my son, you never knew of a girl of real refinement so jeweled garter. Such a thing could not be the gift of her father or mother, and she would certainly not buy it herself."

And I fancy it is a fact that really exquisite girls avoid elaborate fashions in underwear, and that elegance, not showiness, is commendable in a fashionable dresser.—Boston Herald.

OUR GOODS ARE

RELIABLE.

The philosophy of trade forces prices to correspond with quality. No man can buy for a dollar that which is worth two dollars, nor can one man make for a dollar what another and more experienced man can produce for twice as much money. There are prices and prices and qualities, and every time they correspond. Our advice to buyers, whether they buy washtubs or steamships, is to purchase of a reliable house with a pronounced reputation. The dealer who has one price and maintains it, gives positive evidence of the standard value of his goods. It is worth something to know what you are going to get.
